Basic and advanced Facial Reconstruction

Five-day workshops in facial reconstruction on the skull for forensic identification

June 18-June 29, 2007
Basic Facial Reconstruction  ANAT 530
June 18–22, 2007
Introductory workshop with a step-by-step approach to facial reconstruction for forensic identification. Students will study the placement and function of the head and neck muscles, average tissue depths and more in order to recreate facial features. Students will be using an oil-based clay applied to a human skull in tissue depths to ultimately create features. Facial reconstruction has museum and law enforcement applications and is useful to portrait sculptures and painters as well as forensic artists.

Advanced Facial Reconstruction  ANAT 531
June 25–29, 2007
A prerequisite for this class is ANAT 530. Students must be able to interpret soft tissue data with a minimum of individual help. Each student will learn neck anatomy and be expected to construct the armature for neck and shoulders and to sculpt features using data provided. Plaster skull casts will be supplied for classroom use. When reconstruction is complete, a photograph of the individual will be shown. The last exercise will be to advance the age of the individual using aging techniques (adaptable to fugitives and missing persons).

Participants are required to purchase the following book before the session:
Forensic Art and Illustration
by Karen T. Taylor
(available on Amazon.com)

One class $995; both classes $1500

For additional information, please call the Department of Anatomy at (216) 368-2433

Basic and Advanced Facial Reconstruction with Betty Pat Gatilff
Instruction 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. daily, with class ending at noon on Friday.

Case Western Reserve University graduate students need only register for this class through the registrar, course number ANAT 530 and/or 531, Course Director, Kathleen Jung, MS, CMI; 2 credit hours.

Class location: School of Medicine, Room E322

Non-Case students only should complete the attached form and include your check made payable to Case Department of Anatomy and mail to:
Case Western Reserve University
School of Medicine, WG-46
Department of Anatomy
Attn: Department Administrator
10900 Euclid Avenue
Cleveland, OH 44106-4930

Total $995.00 (one class); $1500 (both classes)
A deposit of $500 must accompany this registration form, (non-Case students only). Balance is due on the first day of class.

☐ Basic  ☐ Advanced  ☐ Both classes

First Name ____________________________________
Last Name ____________________________________
Occupation ___________________________________
Office Address _________________________________
City __________________________________________
State _____________________ Zip ________________
Home Address _________________________________
City __________________________________________
State _____________________ Zip ________________
Social Security Number _________________________
Daytime Phone ________________________________
Nighttime Phone ______________________________
E-Mail Address ________________________________
Do you need lodging information? _______________