Scope and Content

This collection is comprised of those single manuscript items which together form an artificial or special collection. Items included in this collection are from these former collections: History of Science Manuscript Collection; Miscellaneous Letter and Manuscript Collection; Astronomy Letter Collection; and Catalogued Manuscripts from the Libraries of Western Reserve University.

This collection also contains manuscript items which were removed from books, donated as gifts, and accumulated over the years in the various libraries on the CWRU campus and subsequently deposited in the Department of Special Collections. Manuscripts are arranged alphabetically by author or subject heading.
